Transportation:

Washington DC has three local airports: Washington Dulles International Airport (IAD), Baltimore-Washington International Airport (BWI), and Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport (DCA). In keeping with the environmental goals of the P3 initiative, EPA encourages those traveling to the P3 Award competition to use public transportation when possible. In addition, renting cars may not be practical in terms of parking and getting around in Washington, DC. Information regarding public transportation options from the local airports is provided below. Visit <http://www.wmata.com> for a map of the Metrorail Transit Lines and fare, schedule, and passenger information.

Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport (DCA) is located on the Metrorail Yellow and Blue lines. The airport metro stop is only 5 stops from the Smithsonian metro station at the National Mall.

Washington Dulles International Airport (IAD) is located approximately 25 miles from Washington, DC. The Washington Flyer Coach Service provides direct transportation between Dulles and Metrorail. Washington Coach Service is available every 30 minutes and links the West Falls Church (VA) Metrorail Station on the Orange line with the Airport.

Baltimore-Washington International Airport (BWI) is located approximately 35 miles from Washington, DC. Metro offers BWI Express Metro bus service between BWI and the Greenbelt metro station on the Green line. The service provides a direct connection between BWI and the Greenbelt Metro Station.
